NAS PENSACOLA CONDITION OF READINESS V

PENSACOLA, FLA.— Following the aftermath of Hurricane Sally, Naval Air Station Pensacola is currently at Condition of Readiness (COR) V as of Thursday, Sept. 17. Access to the base remains only for mission essential personnel or base residents until further notice. COR V is the lowest condition of hurricane readiness. Destructive force winds (50 mph) are not expected.

Damage assessment continues onboard NAS Pensacola following the hurricane and more information will be provided in the near future.

Please continue to monitor local news and the NAS Pensacola Facebook (@NASPCOLA) and Twitter (@NASPCOLA) pages for updates.
