

HEALTH AND SAFETY PROTOCOLS

For NBA All-Star 2021, the NBA and NBPA have established additional measures to supplement the league's current Health and Safety Protocols.

PLAYER PROTOCOLS

1. Pre-All-Star Activities

For the period between a participating player's last game before All-Star Weekend and his arrival in Atlanta, a player may leave his team market only to travel via private transportation to his out-of-market residence (for example, to be with his family at his home prior to All-Star Weekend). All participating players must continue to test daily.

2. Travel to and from Atlanta

On Saturday, March 6, the NBA will provide private transportation (via charter flight or car service) to Atlanta for each participating player (and his guests). Following the All-Star Game on March 7, players will depart Atlanta via private transportation provided by the NBA.

3. While in Atlanta

To protect against the risk of COVID-19 transmission, participating players and their guests will be required to remain at their designated hotel (which will be exclusive to NBA players, their guests, and personnel), except to participate in All-Star activities. There will be health-focused limitations on interactions among players and with other players' guests.

4. Coronavirus Testing

Participating players, their guests, and personnel will be required to follow a league-designated testing program in Atlanta that will involve at least daily PCR testing and additional testing on Sunday, March 7 prior to All-Star events.

GUEST PROTOCOLS

1. Eligible Guests

Consistent with the policy for player guests during the 2019-20 Season Restart in Orlando, each participating player will be able to bring to Atlanta up to four family members, longtime close personal friends, or their certified agent ("Player Guests"), provided that such Player Guests comply with all applicable protocols and requirements, including relating to testing and private travel. Each participating player in the All-Star Game will also be able to bring one health-focused staff member (who may be a team staff member) to help the player prepare on Sunday, March 7 for All-Star events.

2. Pre-All-Star Activities

From Saturday, February 27 through Player Guests' departure for Atlanta, they will be required to self-quarantine at home with limited exceptions.

3. Coronavirus Testing

Player Guests must undergo regular PCR testing as directed by the NBA, including immediately leading up to arrival in Atlanta and while in Atlanta for All-Star activities.

4. Arena Access

Player Guests may attend the All-Star Game and All-Star Skills Competitions in accordance with protocols established by the NBA.
