How to play I'm an active listener

2+ Players

Place cards in a pile with question side facing down.

Players take turns to pick a card out of the pile and answer the question.

Other players need to show their active listening skills. Listen without interrupting, look at the speaker in the eyes, pay attention. Once the speaker has finished the listeners are allowed to ask questions.

After answering the question, the speaker gives out Active Listener badges to all the listeners who were showing good active listening skills. The speaker can choose more than one player to hand the badges to. Keep taking turns until the cards run out.

The player with the most badges wins. Hopefully everyone wins!
