JOB POSTING: Temple Allen Industries, a small technology firm in Rockville, makes smart automation systems that sand airplanes for customers like Boeing and NASA. NOW hiring for summer internships!

We're looking to hire some students for full or part time work this summer annotating images for machine learning models that will be used in a real production environment. While the annotation task is fairly narrow, students will also learn about daily operations documentation and work completion procedures by using and reviewing documents such as Bills of Material (BoMs), Purchase Order Requests (PORs), etc. When time allows, and as appropriate, students may have the chance to support daily manufacturing operations or assist engineers in developing, building, or testing prototypes.

Ideal candidates will be current juniors or seniors with a track record of success with engineering, math, physics, or computer science coursework and experiences (e.g. robotics club, math club, coding contests, etc.).

| HS Junior Internship Description | HS Senior Internship Description |

Candidates should send an email to "jobs@templeallen.com" with subject line "ML Intern-High School" and include a resume if they have one, and a cover letter explaining why they'd be both interested in and suitable for the experience.
